The Sword Staff Welcomes You!

Letters to the editor...

On the front of this newspaper, amidst the pictures of different people and various events is a small, hardly noticeable statement of profound importance. Read it. Think about it. "The Sword staff welcomes you." Pretty normal for the first issue of the year, but what does it mean? Welcomes who and to what?

The what is fairly easy to answer. Concordia, is an easy enough response, but what is Concordia? A school, a place of higher learning? A college? No. Concordia is the people that comprise her. For without the students, faculty and staff, Concordia could be any school in the nation, the world. Concordia would cease to exist without the people. In fact, she ceases to exist for a brief moment each year when we cease to care any longer, when it becomes too much of an effort to become involved anymore.

The who part of the question now becomes obvious. We are welcoming you to Concordia. You, the people: students, faculty and staff, who can and do make Concordia College what it is and what it can be. You, the people who care; who want to give to this place what God has given to you.

During the year this publication, The Sword, will try to keep the student body informed as to news and issues on and off campus. All that we can do, however, is to print the material and put it into your hands. You, must then take the initiative to care enough to find out what its all about.

Our theme this year will be an expansion upon Dr. Merz' idea which I borrow without permission. Christians Committed to the Community and Concordia through Christ. Too often we have a tendency to turn that phrase around and ask what Christ, the community and the college can do for us. This year let's make that commitment a real and active one. Let's "ask not what your college can do for you but what you can do for your college." A tired cliché? I don't know. Does the truth ever get tired?

And so Concordia, we of The Sword, welcome you to Concordia with a new direction in mind; To serve, not be served; to cultivate growth, not be cultivated for growth; to love and thereby be loved.

Managua: Mission Impossible?!

"Yes, Sir. Managua, this kind of work...simply imperative!"

"Nicaragua!...Central America...you know, south of Mexico...well no, it's not exactly in Nigeria, it's kind of more closely related to...no, it's north of Panama. What do you mean you never heard of it?! Does earthquake ring a bell? Oh, you do know about the earthquake...that's wonderful...Well that's where I spent my summer vacation...actually it was not really a vacation it was more akin to...I'm not really sure what it was akin to but anyway..."

"I worked as a volunteer with the Lutheran Mission there. Lutherans...you know, Martin Luther...Reformation... "A Mighty Fortress..." ...You don't know about the Lutherans...there were seven of us there. Well no, it's not a real big set up but you know how the old saying goes, "...it only takes a spark..." You don't know about sparks..."

"My work there? I wish I only knew...No, seriously my work involved setting up some sort of Sunday School. You see they were desperate...well, not exactly desperate but they needed someone to write some Sunday School lessons in Spanish that were doctrinally sound and still fun to learn. Since I could fulfill two of the three requirements it became one of my projects. Which two Sir? That's a professional secret! And as for teaching teachers...Why I myself was taught by the best of teachers how to teach teachers to teach...Yes, I suppose I do get carried away sometimes but a sense of humor is imperative in

"Oh Yes, we lived right with the people! No, we did have a floor put into our house. Bad for the image of the humble workers? I suppose but you have no conception how bad it is for the morale to have a dirt floor...not to mention what it does for the socks and bed sheets! Of course we had beds...our banana tree just wasn't big enough for the four of us."

"Showers? Most assuredly! After all this IS the rainy season...we had a shower every day from two to four in the afternoon...well actually sometimes it's more of a sprinkle than anything else...but none the less we did have showers! Oh that kind of shower! Well...we had a barrel and basin...you know, the old splash and freeze method. Oh, yes we loved it...the neighbors loved it...the cows wandering past loved it...the chickens and the dogs loved it but most of all the mosquitoes loved it...it seems everyone is after American blood these days!"

"Facilities? What facilities?...Those facilities!...Yes, the outhouse is precisely that. Well never mind. 'Tis mere trivia in the lives of us hard core missionaries."

"The people? Sir, the people are beautiful. No, not physically beautiful...they're kind of short if you ask me...but inside...Well mostly beans and rice but I mean inside their hearts! So receptive to the Word...His Word...You don't know HIM?...Well listen there's this really neat little mission in Managua...no, that's Nicaragua...not Nigeria! Central America!"

Faces

Once as I sat on my window ledge, i thought of death. . .
a walk would surely help.

Once as I climbed a hill,
i thought of a blank face. . .
a talk would surely help.

A strong wind always brings friends together.

I'm sure tomorrow will be better. . .
but better than death?

no, but at least it's a blank face.

by Kathryn Irene

You can talk to people, and not say a thing;
You can know the song, but not how to sing.
Now laughing is fine and good, in its place,
It softens and cushions life's struggling pace.
A look in your eye is so hard to find,
With a look in your eye I'll know your mind.

Now that's what gets to me about a lot of people in this world, maybe they're my friends, maybe not, but all that people in this world laugh about is how ugly somebody is or the weird bounce in their walk or if they wear the same clothes all the

Training Institute

The Lutheran Youth Encounter (LYE) Headquarters in Minneapolis is having a weekend training institute October 5-7 for all LYE team members and other interested persons. It will be held at Augustana Lutheran Church in Minneapolis. A sum of $6.00 is asked of those able to afford it to cover housing, meals, materials and other expenses.

Program plans include Bible studies, singing, devotions, workshops; primarily any facet of a team's weekend activities. The program is versatile enough to provide information and enrichment for both experienced and inexperienced teams. Car pools may be arranged, if enough Concordians are interested in the institute.

Family Tree Needs Volunteers

The Family Tree, located at 1599 Selby, is a community clinic dealing in birth control, pregnancy testing and related counseling, venereal disease testing and treatment, and other kinds of sex-related health care. Our organization is staffed almost entirely by volunteers, and with our ever-increasing patient load, more and more volunteers are needed.

A Family Tree volunteer receives training in many areas, including anatomy, birth control, pregnancy and alternatives for the pregnant woman, venereal disease, and communication skills and techniques. The volunteer may also be trained to be a lab technician, blooddrawer, or nurse's assistant. Additional opportunities are available to the volunteer through one of the Family Tree's community outreach programs, the TAHC (TeenAge Health Counselors) program or the Family Tree Speakers Bureau. Training begins October 17th. If you are interested in becoming a Family Tree volunteer, contact Barb Luikens at 645-0478.

time; well it ain't bad to poke fun at someone but it gets to me when people prefer to talk about a person's anatomy, or how much horsepower they have in a lousy car; now it's okay to talk about cars and things or to laugh at somebody's oily hair, but that's all a lot of people talk about, and sometimes I would prefer to talk about something important like God (not religion), life (not living), death, emotions, feelings, troubles (not just your own), people, even places and things, now you don't know what I mean, but motive is important. The reason why must always be be. . . ?

But a smile is important, it's beautiful, and it's a window. It's a lot more than just shiny teeth, it's how the lips wrinkle, how the cheeks puff up and curve, how the eyes glow and eyebrows twist, it's how every ounce of skin on a person's face and neck looks. It can show the fear, apprehension, and happiness of a person's heart all at one time, which can really twist up a person's face. I haven't really done a good job of saying much of what I thought, I guess I can't spell so good either.

Life must be more than a monologue, it must be a dialogue. And there's more to life than just laughing all the time, a lot more. Maybe.

So as I'm reaching the end of my time,
For what stupid reason
do poems have to rhyme.

Student Senate Minutes

The first meeting of the Student Senate was opened with devotions given by Vice President, John Schultz. Nineteen members were present, in addition to Senate Advisor, Dr. Marschke.

The agenda was approved and accepted after several changes had been made.

Jane Mussell, Student Senate Treasurer, reported that the budget for the 1973-74 academic year has been cut $75.00 from the previous year. Several organizational budgets have been reduced for this reason. Copies of the budget will be published and distributed each week.

Spiritual Life Minister, Chris Elmhukhl brought up the question of where Chapel offerings should be sent for Fall Quarter. She suggested a number of worthwhile organizations and institutions, after which a discussion followed. A motion was made and passed to send the Chapel offerings to an elementary school in Hawaii, which is yet in the mission stages and contains many unchurched pupils. The Student Senate was made aware of this need through a special request of Concordia graduate, Ruth Larson, who received placement at this school last spring. A second motion by Ken Kelleck regarding Chapel offerings also received approval from the Senate. One Chapel offering each month will be set aside to supplement the on-going expenses of the Chapel Guild's Ministry. Chris also requested suggestions for financial back of a bus for students interested in traveling to an evangelism conference in Milwaukee, October 6 and 7. The discussion was tabled for further investigation.

Kathleen Murphy addressed the Senate with a request for volunteers to assist with the Christians Committed to community (CCC) organization. This would involve working with individuals in teaching and tutoring activities, as well as companion relationships. These projects may be used for Human Relations.

Homecoming activities were briefly reviewed by Lloyd Gray. A discussion followed in which several revisions were made in the schedule. Representatives were urged to notify their dorms to begin work on a display for Homecoming.

Sue Mussell, Journalism minister, mentioned the need for volunteers to work on the Sword and the Scribe. Anyone interested should contact her.

Under New Business, it was announced that all senators must have alternates chosen to replace them when they are unable to attend the Senate meetings.

It was announced that the movie "The Graduate" would be shown at 9:00 p.m. Senators were also reminded of the football game Saturday, September 22, 1973 at 1:30 p.m. against Northwestern and the Soccer game to be played at St. Paul Bible at 1:30 p.m.

Liz Fritz volunteered to give devotions at the next meeting.

A motion was made and passed to adjourn the meeting.

Respectfully submitted,
Pat Weinhold

Gotta Talk To Someone? It's A Two Way Street

Curly haired John Couchman says he doesn't consider himself a psychiatrist and especially not a "shrink", but a person who wants to listen and relate to other people in a meaningful way.

Mr. Couchman is not a newcomer to our campus as he was counseling here last year in an office up by the Health service. But for freshman, transfers, and the uninformed, he is here again this year to render his services as an objective listener and as counselor.

Mr. Couchman took his undergraduate studies at the University of Dubuque, majoring in psychology and graduating in 1969 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. While at the University he was married and his wife, who graduated with a degree in Elementary Ed., is currently teaching third grade at Como Park Elementary in St. Paul. John then pursued his studies further, attending the University of Minnesota school of Social Work for two years where he achieved his Masters of Social Work degree.

His services are offered to Concordia free of charge through the Hamm Clinic of St. Paul. His office is currently in the last room past the Health service and he is there every Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. He may be reached by appointment or by just going up to see if he's free.

Mr. Couchman explains his attitudes towards his work by saying that he believes that everyone, young and old, has a certain number of "roadblocks" in their personal lives especially during the college years. Values change, conflicts arise and life gets confusing. John says that he is available to help work out these conflicts as one human being to another.

His methods of counseling briefly described are to help each individual achieve the freedom to choose their own values without imposing someone else's values on them. He also wishes to help people to learn to express their feelings and not feel different or odd about it.

He welcomes all students and faculty to come up on Thursdays from 8:30 to 10 a.m. and says, "Counseling is a two way street, other people help me as much as I may help them."

Test Dates for Teachers

Princeton, New Jersey. College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: November 10, 1973, and January 26, April 6, and July 20, 1974. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations. The school systems and state departments of education which use the examination results are listed in an NTE leaflet entitled Score Users which may be obtained by writing to ETS.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations which measure their professional preparation and general educational background and an Area Examination which measures their mastery of the

Commuter Assistance on Campus

What is commuter assistance? What's in it for me? These are two questions city students might be asking about, a new program being initiated at Concordia this fall. According to Mrs. Patricia Spaulding, Dean of Women, it is part of a special effort being made to allow the commuters to be a more active part of campus life. Commuters now constitute one third of the entire student body, and both Deans Spaulding and Treichel foresee a need to keep in touch with each and every one of them.

Part of the Commuter Assistance Program was the selection of four students, Nancy Reedy, Gloria Woods, Richard Garcia, and Scott Gilles, to serve as Commuter Assistants for the entire school year. Each assistant will be in the student union two or three hours a week to answer questions or discuss any problems commuters may be having. Once each month city students will be contacted by one of the assistants to see how things are going.

A service that will be available to female commuters is the city student dorm. Interested girls will be able to select a room in one of two dormitories (Minnesota or Luther) to use as their "home" for the school day. This should give the city girls a chance to know the resident students much better. Dean Treichel has indicated that as soon as there is dorm space, he will get the program underway for the guys as well.

So commuters, "what's in it for you" is a chance to make Concordia not just a place where you attend class, but to make it a real social experience. If you would like more information on the program, contact Dean Spaulding, Dean Treichel, or one of the four commuter assistants.

Pots? Pans? How About Kettles?

Jack Kettles, the new drama director on Concordia's campus was born in Brooklyn, New York. He attended Concordia High School and Junior college in Bronxville. He finished at Concordia, River Forest, graduating in 1970. He married, and then began teaching high school in Fort Wayne, Indiana. He is now doing graduate study at the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Kettles considers drama as a ministry, and has many plans for exposing Concordia's students to it. Drama will contribute more to the students' worship life this year, and also Mr. Kettles hopes to have more drama courses offered in the curriculum. Winter quarter Mr. Kettles will be teaching Creative Dramatics to faculty and neighborhood children on Saturday mornings.

Mr. Kettles was very pleased with the turnout for the Harlequins' first meeting. Fifty students showed up, the biggest crowd they've had in years.

The Harlequins will begin their season on Nov. 2, 3, & 4 with "Playcycle". Written by Norman Dietz, it's a festival of fables, vaudevilles, and plays. Mr. Dietz describes it as "a little holy whoopee about what it means to be human." Other productions to look forward to are; a modern Christmas story, "Goliwhoppers", which tours over Spring break, and the musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

For all you sports fans, Mr. Kettles' claim to fame is that in high school he played basketball with Kareem Abdul Jabbar (now a Milwaukee Buck).

One last plug "buy a season ticket, the Harlequins need support from all students and faculty."

Relaxing behind the scenes after the Harlequins "get-acquainted special" are Wendy Williams, Kay Crosmer and Karen Christopherson. The Harlequins presented excerpts from some of this season's upcoming performances for the student body during Orientation Week.

subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

The Bulletin of Information for Candidates contains a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a Registration Form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Computer-Linked Teletype

A computer-linked teletype is now available to faculty and/or students qualified in any of eight computer languages. It can be used for menial data accumulation, solving complex problems, or playing games. The teletype is located in the second floor offices in the administration building.

Persons seeking further information should contact Professor Richter-Kessing.

Concordia sweeps first; Meets defeat in second

Coach Jack Surridge expects a winning season this year from the Concordia College football team. The Comets started out on the right foot by tallying a 34-19 victory over Northwestern-St. Paul. On this cold afternoon the defensive squad got off to a slow start but in the second half they settled down and allowed backfield has experience all around, especially in Aaron Simmons, halfback, who was the leading rusher and scorer in the league last year.

In the defensive backfield there are 2 freshmen and 1 sophomore. Hopefully their speed will make up for their lack of experience. On the line Charlie James, only one touchdown. Offensively, Gary Schultz scored two touchdowns on quarterback sneaks and threw for two more. Aaron Simmons almost scored another but it was called back on a holding penalty. Two field goals and 4 extra points were added by the place kicker, Kim Overgaard.

"OK you guys, at least act like you know what you're doing."

The team is a young one this year with 16 of the 34 players as freshmen. It is the smallest but fastest team that Coach Surridge has had in the 5 years he has been here. Up until this year no team had more than 3 men who could run the 40-yard dash in 4.9; however, this year there are 9.

Offensively, the line is inexperienced. Broderick Bell, Larry Heinert, and Rich Heinert are back from last year, but the rest are freshmen. The offensive middle guard, and defensive ends, Jim Spitzack and Doug Neal have returned, but defensive tackles, Freshman, Mike Campbell and Sophomore Ed Doepl, will begin their first year as starters. The linebacker position is probably strongest with Jim Trulaske, sophomore,

"Hold it!!"
65-35, "why won't you marry me Larry?"

and Tim Heupel, senior.

There has been one serious injury thus far. That is to Steve Hauter who is a 6'4" freshman defensive tackle. Steve has a slight fracture in his ankle.

Coach Surridge is adding some new formations this year to the split-T offensive he has been using. He is experimenting with some Pro-sets and the "T" formation.

Players of the Week Award

After each game during the football season this year the coaches will select and present some special awards to individuals for service above and beyond the call of duty.

For the first game of the year against Northwestern-St. Paul those honored are: Offensive player of the week, Gary Schultz; Defensive player of the week, Charlie James; "Hardest Hit", Jim Trulaske; "Unsung Hero", Kim Overgaard.

Soccer team looks forward to '73 season

The Concordia College Comets will base their title hopes on ten returning lettermen from a team that finished in third place in the Southern Minnesota-Soccer Conference in 1972. Coach John Hendrickson can count on several outstanding individuals as he prepares the team for the 1973 season. Defensively the Comets will be led by former all-state goalie Jim Printrup. Printrup earned all-conference honors last season in his first year of tending goal for Concordia. Offensively Rod Baker and John Schultz give Concordia a fine combination around which to build a potent attack.

Jack Surridge, our head football coach, she finished her last year of graduate school while living in Lincoln. While attending classes at Concordia, Mrs. Surridge also taught part time. After teaching 2 years here at Concordia, St. Paul, from 1969-71, she returned to Lincoln for a year. While away from the Twin Cities a new member was added to the Surridge family, a baby girl. Her name is Kamla and she was born on December 7, 1972.

This year Mrs. Surridge returns to Concordia to teach in the Physical Education program. However, she is also involved with the women's extramural teams. She has herself competed in swimming since she was 9 years old. In high school and college she was a member of the drill team, and in college she competed in basketball.

As coach of the women's extramural sports program she is hopeful that the volleyball team can successfully win their third consecutive C.I.T. championship. The girls will have an 8-game schedule before the championship tournament. Their first game is home, October 11, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Surridge will also coach the basketball and softball teams later in the year.

Cross country added to CSP Sports roster

The athletic department at Concordia has taken on the challenge of cross country competition. The 1973 fall sports season will see CSP's first running team under the direction of Coach Jim Rahn, head track coach.

Commenting on the addition of the new program at CSP, Coach Rahn stated his hope in giving the cross country participants an opportunity to practice one of our country's current favorite past times. Team members include three trackmen from last spring, Robert Hoch, Phil Miller and Rick Schafer. Rounding out the squad are three freshmen, Virgil Kelm, Wayne Bernau, and Mark Rosenwinkel.

Season play will have Concordia in action against:
